Now Practicing Attorney.

Since his relief from public service, Mr. French has been practicing law in Moscow, his home town.

In a meeting with ex-Congressman French the other daw over in southeastern Idaho, he told me that he had kept a memoranda in a book of original entry.

It is fair to give Hamer first place in the race at this time; French second and Sinclair third. Sinciair third.

It would appear at this date that the winner of the nomination would have as his opponent for election on the Democratic ticket, Arthur M. Bowen of Halley.

In her initial statement as a candidate for re-election State Superintendent S. Belle Chamberlain covers her claim in the first paragraph, as follows:
"I am going before the people with the request that I be allowed to continue another term in order that I may have the opportunity of establishing the educational plan or system I began three and a half years ago when I assumed the duties of the office." Should the superintendent be chosen to Seriously, the school children of Idaho seriously, the school children of Idaho need today, more than any course of study or plan devised by or under the direction of Miss Chamberlain, a high moral example, free from the taint of suspicion, as to either making money by questionable methods or playing politics with official power that is sacred to the tone of Idaho.

cial power that is sacred to the tone of Idaho.

Star Chamber Work.

There is a belief abroad in the state today, based on the revelations of the star land board, of which she was a part, in the Church affair that the state superintendent of public instruction was one of those members of the board to whom Governor Brady made reference to his timely suggestion of "serving two masters at the same time"—the one her state, the other her private bank account. The people have the idea that by inside information acquired through her official trust Miss Chamberlain made a great deal of money that a person stripped of the power to vote and to grant privileges and contract and fix rates for water and prices on timber would not have had the opportunity to make

They further believe that the criminal statute which Governor Brady designs to ask the next Idaho legislature to pass to make a "penitentiary offense of such transactions as speculation in Carey act lands by members of state land boards," was suggested to his fertile mind by the caprices of his three associates on the state land board, of which Miss Chamberlain is one.

Over in Malad the other day I met a member of the Preston school board for emplaying two polygamist teachers in their schools. He admitted the employment by the board of the two women numed in my previous correspondence, Mrs. Cowley and Mrs. Dalley, and stated that the former had not been re-employed for another year, but that they had re-employed Mrs. Dalley.

I told him the board of trustees at Preston should not employ even one polygamist, especially in face of the fact that they enforced the provisions of the compulsory education law. I pointed out to him the damage which his board was doing the Mormon peopte, many of whom disclaim a belief in polygamy.

Noither does the state superintendent was doing the Mormon peopte many of whom disclaim a belief in polygamy.

Condoning Polygamy.

Condoning Polygamy.

Noither does the state superintendent "look at these things" as does the member of the Preston school board who condones polygamy, but for political purposes, in order that she may "hold fast that which she hath," a living example of polygamy is brazenly flaunted in the face of the school children of Proston, not all of whom believe in the abominable practice.

ice, re than the "plan" of education of h Miss Chamberlain speaks in her for re-election to a third term as superintendent of Idaho the school ron of this state need a pure moral plea for re-election to a third term as state superintendent of idaho the school children of this state need a pure moral example, one which subordinates, reduces to the minimum all forms of victous practices of the darker ages. Idaho needs a state superintendent who will bring the Preston school board "up standing". If Miss Chamberlain cannot do this, let us have someone who can. The Lord hates a moral coward and any sane person who compromises with a wrong so direful in its results on humanity as polygany is totally unworthy the political support of a monogamist constituency, Miss Chamberlain is on the board of education. Suppose she would refuse, as she should, to apportion 1 cent of Oneida county's blennial state apportioament of money until the county superintendent of Oneida county should cancel all certificates of record in his jurisdiction made out to polygamists. How quick the polygamists would squawk. Sure, she would lose the votes of the Mormons who indorse polygamy but she would thus refuse to indorse it herself.

Miss Chamberlain must answer to the people of Idaho for official acts both of commission and of omission.
